KELLAM LOST HIS NERVE.

SIMMONS'S NOTES REDATED

Kellam Takes All the Blame an In Held for General Sessions in $25,000.

Broker David L. Kellam, of 229 Broad way, and Lawyer Henry M. Haigh, of 67 Exchange place, who were arrested Fri-day afternoon by Detectives McCauley, and O'Brien, of the Central Office, charged with conspiracy in raising sums of money by selling at half-price notes obtained from Henry E. Simmons, Prestdent of the Prosser Falls and Priest Rapids Canal Company, were arraigned this morning at the Tombs Court for ex-

The specific charge against Kellam is forgery, while Haigh is accused with at-tempting to utter forged notes, Kellam ented by R. B. Washington while B. C. Chetwood looked after Haigh's interests. M. A. Smith, to whom the alleged notes were made payable, and who, Kellam claims, made the alteration in the dates of the notes, was represented by ex-Judge Combe. Jesse Stearns appeared for the complainant, represented by ex-Judge Combe. Jesse Stearns appeared for the complainant, Henry Simmons.

The case of Kellam was heard first. Simmons, the complainant, took the stand and said that he delivered to his broker, C. W. Low, four notes of $5,000 each on July 13. These were delivered by Low to Kellam.

The witness said that Low, his broker, introduced him to Kellam. The latter introduced the witness to President Western, of the Wayne County Bank, of Honesdale, Fa. Western, he said, tol⁴ him that Kellam was worth about $75,000, and Mr. A. Smith, to whose order the notes were subsequently made, was worth about $75,000, and Mr. A. Smith, to whose order the notes were subsequently made, was worth about $150,000.

The four notes were then made, but the witness was positive that they were dated sometime in June.

Another transaction involving $51,000 worth of notes, which were to be discounted or sold, was introduced by Kellam's counsel, Lawyer Washington. In this transaction there was a certain contract which had been made between the witness and Kellam. All reference to this transaction was excluded by Justice Grady as having no bearing on the matter of the four notes.

Broker Low was then called. He has an office at 19 Park place, and resides at 2013 Fifth avenue. For several years he has acted as Simmone's agent in this city. The notes in question were delivered to him on July 13, and as near as he can now remember bore the dates of June 18 and 23. These he gave to Kellam, and was positive that they bore the original dates when they left his possession.

M. A. Smith, an ex-Assemblyman from Sullivan County, and a dealer in dairy session.

M. A. Smith, an ex-Assemblyman from Sullivan County, and a dealer in dairy products at Eighty-first street and Coumbus evenue, the man who indorsed the notes, was then called.

He was shown the three notes and identified them as the notes he had indorsed. Kellam, he said, came to him and told him of the proposed whiskey transaction. He said he wanted three names on the notes.

transaction. He said he wanted three names on the notes.

"Simmons had signed them and I put my name on the back. I supposed Kellam's would be the third name."

Smith said Keliam took the notes, and shortly afterwards they again came into his possession, and then he learned that they did not bear the same date as when he paried with them. The witness said he found that the notes were not to be used for the purpose for which they were used for the purpose for which they were made.

He attempted then to take up the notes, but his lawyer got him to supplement his endorsement on the notes without recourse to me.

An attempt was here made to fix the alteration of the dates on Smith, but he swore that they were changed when he last came in possession of them.

W. Sutphen, a lawyer, of 45 Broadway, then testified as to the notes having been given to him by Kellam. He turned them over to Note Broker G. T. King, of & Broadway.

The latter was then called, and said that an envelope, sealed and containing the four notes, was in turn delivered by him to Lawyer Haigh, who is a co-defendant in the case.

Haigh, he heard, was to get 40 percent of the face value and a commission.

This closed the defense.

Keliam, the defendant, was then placed on the rtand.

He broke down under Justice Grady's questions.

He said he dated the notes originally and took them to Henry F. Clinton, of 136 William street, who, with chemicals, at his request, removed the dates.

Smith and he then met at Judge Mc-Cann's office and had a telk about the changing of the dates.

"Now if you will let me tell it all in my own way, we will get along better," said the witness.

ald the witness.

"In April I had a talk with Smith and sot a note for 13,000. I failed to negotiate it and Broker McCleilan, of a Broadway, told me to make it $6,000. I "Then I was introduced to J. G. his denial that he had erased the date on any of the notes.

"I have enough evidence to hold Mr. Kellam in $25,000 ball for his appearance in the Court of General Sessions," said Justice Grady, and an order will be made to that effect."

Kellam was taken to the Tombs.

The case against Haigh was then taken up. Mr. Simmons, the complainant, testified that he never saw Mr. Haigh till last Saturday,

Mr. Low testified that, acting for Mr. Simmons, he went to Mr. Haigh, who told him that he had notes to negotiate, but Mr. Haigh did not show any notes.

Joseph A. Britton, formerly an agent of Anthony Comstock, acted as detective for Lawyer Low, and Mr. Simmons testified that he went to Mrs. Haigh representing himself as a cierk of Mr. Low, who had given the name of Williams. He procured from Mrs. Haigh the dates of the notes which Low or Williams had agreed to take. This was last Thursday, Britten said he used the name of Robert Hayes.

The case against Haigh was continued till Wednesday, and his ball reduced from $25,000 to $1,500.

There was little doing in the stock market this afternoon outside of the speculation in Sugar, which declined nearly 3 points under a heavy pressure to sell.

The movement was due to the reductions made by the Trust in the price of sugars. The bears gave it out that the cut means a heavy loss on each barrel of sugar manufactured by the Trust.

On the other hand, it was asserted in some quarters that the continued reductions are for the purpose of warding off adverse legislation and to enable certain insiders to buy a line of the shares at low figures.

COTTON AT FIVE CENTS?

Broker Will Wager $500 that March

Will Sell at That Price. Owing to a disappointing Liverpool cotton market the local market opened about 4 points off, improved 2 or 3 points and then eased off to opening prices. The first call sales were only about 4,000 bales, including January at 5,60; February, 5,60 a 5,61; March, 5,66; April, 5,71; May, 5,76; June, 5,81; August, 5,91. A 4ocal cotton man offers to wager $500 that March cotton will sell at five cents. He bases his belief on private advices received by him of the alleged enormous amount of cotton in Alabama and Missinsippi as well as in other States.

The wheat market was about 1-2c lower at the start, May selling at 53 1-8c, at New York and 19 1-4c. West, but later recovered part of the loss. The weakness was on depressed foreign markets. Corn ruled firm, although it opened 1-5c. easier than it closed on Saturday, May here selling at 591-2c. and 49 5-8c. West, but immediately sold up about 1-2c. Oats ruled steady and unchanged. SUGAR AT LOWER PRICES.

Trust Said to Have Made Cut Because of Light Demand. The Sugar Trust to-day announced reduction in the price of different grades of sugar. The cut loaf, domino and crushed grades were reduced 1-4 of a crushed grades were reduced 1-4 of a cent a pound, and in all the other grades, including granulated and loaf sugars, a cut of 1-8 of a cent was made. The latter reduction was made on about lifteen different grades.

The duliness of the market is the cause for the cut assigned by the Trust, It is said that the demand for sugar has not been so light for years, as it is at present. At the office of the Trust it was said that the cut had been contemplated for some time.

President H. Q. Havemeyer and Treasurer Searles refused to discuss the cut.
